

BANGLE WINS A HANDICAP.*SUBURBAN HEROINE, IMP., AGAIN BEATEN AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY.

Prestidigitator captures the June Stakes in a Gallop for "Pittsburgh Phil"—Mother's Son, Central Trust, easily makes a New Record Over the Turf Course.

Sheepshead Bay racing inclosure looked as fresh as a retouched oil painting yesterday afternoon, and the 4,000 patrons who filed through the turnstiles enjoyed the outing. The overnight rainstorm had not only laid the dust effectually, but restored their spring verdure to the grass and foliage, while a genial sun and a healthy breeze from the sea heightened the pleasing effect. The rain, however, had made the track slow and decidedly heavy in spots, and owners and trainers were so nonplussed by the unexpected change in the going that withdrawals were numerous.

The blue pen reduced the field in the first race to four, among which Kinsey Mack started a pronounced favorite. He was shut out on the turn, but was so much beat at the weights that after losing about four lengths he came on and won in a gallop by two lengths. Box finished second, but was disqualified for fouling and the other horses were placed as shown in the summary.

As the track showed indications of drying out fast, Manlius was the only absentee of the thirteen entered for the selling race at one mile. Greatland ruled favorite and might have won but for a very stormy passage, in which he was shut out three or four times. Meanwhile Mazarine at the false price of 20 to 1 was out dispairing the lead with Haustrum, and having shaken off Pat Dunn's colt, he looked like a winner. But Haustrum and again through the bunch with a start, and Mazarine had all he could do to beat the Devil's own a neck. Wolhurst was a consistent third throughout.

The first fixture on the card was the June Stake, for which two year-olds of average merit faced the barrier. The race was little more than exercise gallop for the favorite, Prestidigitator, who won handily by two lengths from Carrington with the rest strung out.

Scratches cut the field for the Long Island Handicap, but the consolation race, the Maxine ruled favorite, with Imp and Hendoran next in demand. When it came to racing, however, neither could land the money. Imp and Maxine were beaten in the way they were beaten, both up the backstretch, where Hendoran had enough. Bangs then moved up to Imp, and the two were neck-and-neck, wavered by three lengths, while Maxine nosed enough at the end to beat Imp a length and a half for the place.

Box and Maxine opened equal choices for the fifth, but heavy play on the former made her the post favorite. It was Maxine's race from the start, and she won as she liked. Imp was beaten in the way he was beaten, from Carrington with the rest strung out.
